DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-3, 5-12, 14-16, 18-23 and 25-28 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection presented below.

Specification

The abstract of the disclosure is objected to because it should avoid using phrases, which can be implied, such as, "The disclosure relates to" on line 1 of the abstract. Correction is required. See MPEP § 608.01(b).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 1-3, 5-12, 14-16, 18-23 and 25-28 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Gentile et al. (hereinafter Gentile) in view of Zwaert et al. (hereinafter Zwaert).

In regard to claims 1, 9, 10, 14 and 23, Gentile discloses a paint applicator comprising a container (1) having an opening; and a housing assembly (see Fig. 2a) removably attached to the container, the housing assembly comprising a cylindrical shaped paint application element (14), which can be considered as "a paint pad" or "a paint roller cover", and a push-pull valve (see cols. 3-4), the paint application element being positioned adjacent to the valve (see Fig. 2a), and the push-pull valve being in fluid communication with the container, wherein the container is shaped to include a gripping surface thereon (left and right sides of container 1, see Fig. 2a) to ergonomically receive the hand of a user and a bottom surface. Although the longitudinal centerline of the Gentile valve is not positioned offset and above the centerline of the paint application element in use as claimed, attention is directed to the Zwaert reference, which discloses an analogous applicator comprises the longitudinal centerline of a valve is positioned offset and above the centerline of the paint application element (78) when the applicator is placed in an inverted use position (see Fig. 1B). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to arrange, the Gentile valve outlet and application element, with the longitudinal centerline of a valve is positioned offset and above the centerline of the paint application element as, for example, taught by Zwaert as an alternative arrangement between a dispensing outlet and a paint application element.

In regard to claims 2 and 15, Gentile further discloses the housing assembly comprises a cap (about 2) adapted to substantially seal the opening of the container, and a cover (56) adapted to engage the cap.

In regard to claims 3 and 16, Gentile further discloses the paint applicator further comprises a "living hinge" (about 62, 64 that lift and bent 50 when 56 is being inserted or removed) connecting the cover to the cap. 4.

In regard to claims 5 and 18, Gentile further discloses the cap includes a recess (the recess under member 8, see Figs. 2a and 5) and the cover includes a projection (64, see Figs. 2a and 2b) adapted to interact with the recess to provide a snap-fit engagement between the cap and the cover.

In regard to claims 6 and 19, Gentile further discloses the cover includes a recess (between 62 and 64, see Figs. 2a and 2b) and the cap includes a projection (about member 8, see Figs. 2a and 5) adapted to interact with the recess to provide a snap-fit engagement between the cap and the cover.

In regard to claims 7 and 20, Gentile further discloses the cap is adapted to engage the paint application element (about 20, see Fig. 2b).

In regard to claims 8 and 21, Gentile further discloses the cover is adapted to engage the paint application element (via cap 2 when the cover 56 is place thereon).

In regard to claims 11 and 12, Gentile further discloses the push- pull valve comprises a face (about 12) having a contour that is complementary to an outer diameter of the paint roller cover and the face is in contact with an outer diameter of the paint roller cover (see Fig. 2b).

In regard to claims 25-28, the method as claimed would be inherent during normal use of the Gentile in view of Stewart device.

Conclusion

4. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

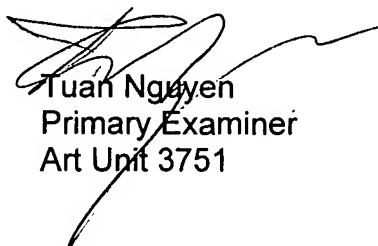

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
